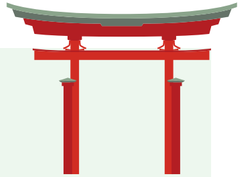
Trade Travel Chill

The Daily Setup

All times are New York time

*typical setup

5-8pm Dead Zone
The Market Maker is off duty
At times, the Market Maker may use this time to set the high and the low of the day
Mark this on your chart as 'IHOD' and 'ILOD'



8pm-8:30pm The Asia Gap Time
Where the IHOD or ILOD starts to get set
Look for wicks to confirm a low or high
8:30pm-3am The Asia Session
The Market Maker is accumulating contracts, expect consolidation and wicks either side to induce traders to commit to a trade
1-2am (approx) The Market Maker usually holds the range
2:30-3am (approx) we will often see an aggressive move towards the high or low. The Market Maker is extending the IHOD or ILOD to pick up retail limit orders. This is usually comprised of the bursts (or 3 fast candles on lower timeframes)
Once enough orders have been triggered, the Market Maker will retrace quickly then repeat the level but not break it (they may issue a stop hunt)
They then consolidate until Asia session ends

3am-3:30am The UK Gap Time
You may see stop hunts issued here or the second leg of a M or W
3:30am-9am The UK Session
This session usually runs the true trend over about 6-8 hours
We will see 3 levels of drops or rises here
If the drops and rises are extended move, you will often see an M or W start to form to bring price back into the range
There can be board meetings between the levels but there doesn't have to be 8am (approx) they may consolidate mid-session and then push their final burst to finish the session.
The ideal time for an M or W formation to start to form is towards the end of the UK session.

9am-9:30am The US Gap Time
Look for stop hunts or false moves as an indication that the Market Maker plans to reverse price
9am-5pm The US Session
Stops hunts and false moves to trap traders can continue into the first part 30 mins of the US open if the Market Maker is planning to reverse price.
8am-11am If around the US session open, you can identify 3 hits to the HOD or LOD or the first side of an M or W has formed and after the open you get a hammer, inverted hammer or railroad tracks, it's likely the US price action will reverse back into the range.
12-2pm (approx) After the false move to trap traders, the Market Maker will consolidate back into the board meeting.
Usually the Market Maker will reverse the price action from the UK session, but not always

Chart Example

Trade Travel Chill

Chart Example